Professional Development and Continuing Education

Courses offered by IBPI may satisfy continuing professional competency requirements for professional development as a condition for licensure or certification renewal. It is the responsibility of the individual to check with the certifying board or agency to determine if the course qualifies, and, in most cases, to maintain records to support credits claimed. IBPI provides a completion certificate for each course that documents attendance, course title, date, location and course instructor. Additional information can be provided upon request to satisfy certification requirements.
